

DABBLING IN DUBBING

Tonino Cacciutolo unpacks his bag of sounds at studio prior to going to work.

With a pile of common salt he creates the sound of the sea in all its moods. Bathroom plungers and plastic bowls imitate the sound of horses walking and running. To get thunder, he works with a lemon squeezer.

You name the sound and Tonino Cacciutolo, Italy's top sound effects man, will come up with it. Working in a small studio with assorted microphones, Tonino dubs in the sound effects heard in most Italian films, including American films made in Italy.

The secret of his ability is a pile of what looks like junk. Besides the bag of salt, plungers, plastic bowls and lemon squeezer, there also are such items as a piece of chain, an old revolver, men and women's shoes, various sized bells, a car door latch, a fork and assorted pieces of wood and metal.

Born in Naples in 1918, where his father was a stage technician, young Tonino studied drawing to become a scenographer. But some movie producers heard of his skill at producing sounds, hired him, and soon he was established in a new field.

Tonino uses common, everyday objects to create his sounds, supplementing these with his hands, feet and mouth. The incredible thing is that everything he needs to create all these sounds fits into a small overnight bag that he carries with him to the job.

With these rubber suction cups, Tonino imitates the sound of a horse galloping.

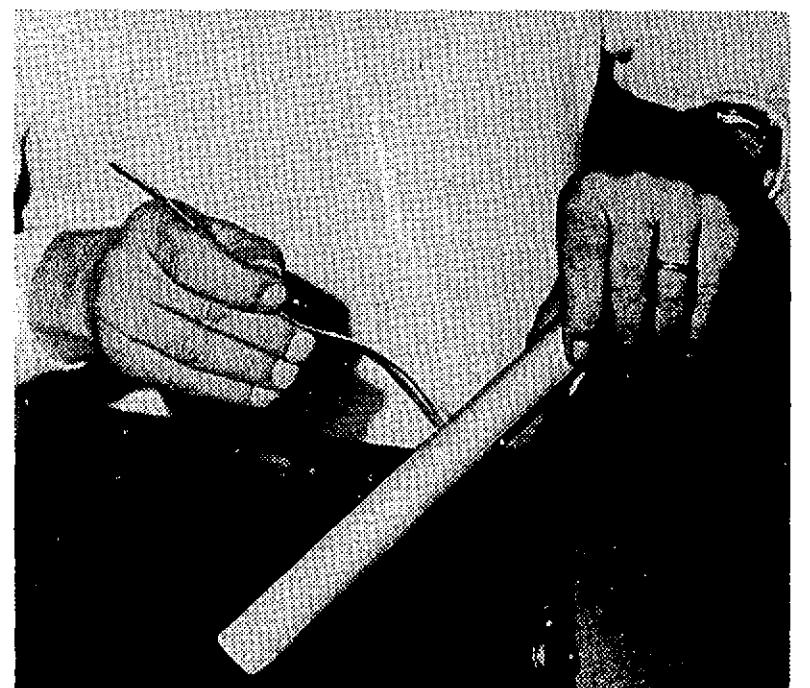

Small bells create the sound of a passing herd of sheep or cattle.

Rustle of clothes from cloth.

Plastic cups rubbed in salt make sound of heavy sea.

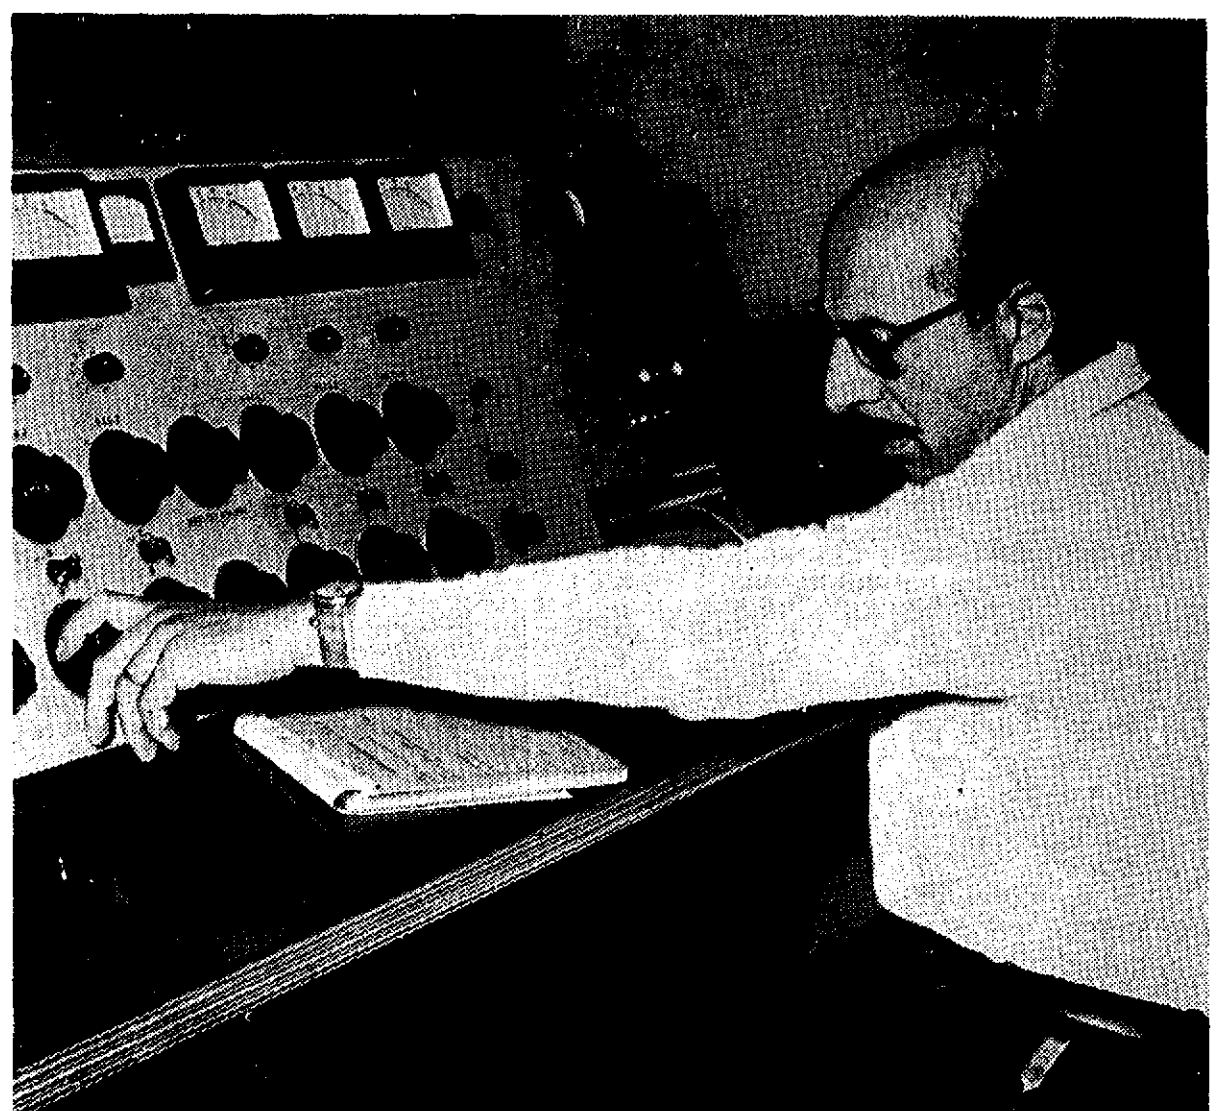

Squeaking door is created with fork and metal tube.

Mouth and hands are also used to produce special sounds.

Manipulated lemon squeezer produces sound of distant thunder.

Cacciutolo listens to the sounds he created during the recording session.

Pravada Says Batman 'Bad'

MOSCO W(AP) — Batman is being used to make Americans more willing to act as "murderers in the Vietnamese jungle" Pravda said today.

The Soviet communist party newspaper said the popular new television series is being used to condition Americans to committing murder. Batman "kills his adversaries with great taste," Pravda said, setting a standard of workmanship for the viewers to emulate in the jungles of Viet Nam.

In New York a spokesman for ABC, the network on which Batman appears, said: "Batman doesn't kill anyone. He socks them — biff, pow, bam — but they always come back."

Murphy Oil Corp. Dividends Up

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Murphy Oil Corp. had record earnings of 44 cents per share, up 23 per cent from the same period in 1965, company President C. H. Murphy Jr. reported today.

He attributed the 17 per cent increase in revenues, up to $41,127,000, to increased operating levels and higher average prices, despite a substantial increase in exploration costs.

Summer In a Fiesta Mood

by Helen Hennessy

The Mexican influence is sweeping the summer play-time fashion scene. Colorful pant top (left) is in cotton lace over a pink or blue acetate lining and trimmed with rows of heavy cotton fringe. South-of-the-border poncho (right) can top pants or bikinis. The dots are pink and green, the fringe pink and the hat is in brilliant sun yellow cotton. These are Sally Gee designs.

Even Paris has succumbed to the hot and sultry Mexican influence that is sweeping through the American casual fashion scene. It's "ole" on both sides of the Atlantic to hot colors and fiesta trimmings.

One of the leaders in this south-of-the-border trend is American accessory designer, Sally Gee, who has put the HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Petite Petula Clark has exploded her singing talent on the Hollywood scene, startling those who thought of her as a rock 'n' roll singer.

The fresh-faced, snub-nosed British singer sold a stellar audience at the Coconut Grove on her varied repertoire of something old and much that is new. Her performance was a revelation to those who came expecting a teen-type rocker.

The reason for that reputation was her first American record, "Downtown," which was such a favorite with the youthful crowd that her talent as a song-belter was virtually obscured.

"But 'Downtown' is not a rock 'n' roll song; it is really a very beautiful piece of music," she opined in her Ambassador Hotel suite as one of her two young daughters crawled over her. "I have certainly never considered myself a rock 'n' roll singer."

"Last year at the Grammy Awards, I accepted my statuette for 'Downtown,' then I noticed the inscription. I commented, 'I didn't know I was a rock 'n' roll singer.' The emcee hemmed and hawed over that.

"I was glad to see that when I won this year for 'I Know a Place,' the category had been changed."

"Downtown" brought many changes to her life.

"Actually, this was the time when I expected to be slowing down my career," she remarked, adding with no false modesty: "I had enjoyed a career as the most successful female performer in England and on the Continent. Having had the best of it, I thought I would be settling down to the house we are building in Switzerland — we also have places in Paris and on the Cote d'Azur — as my daughters would soon be starting school.

"And then 'Downtown' was released in this country. Now we have doubled our travel time, and who knows when it will end?"

Petula, who is married to and managed by Frenchman Claude Wolff, is a veteran of British show business despite her gamine appearance. She began by performing before soldiers in the war, along with another noted star.

Miss Judy Dianne Hartsfield

NEW YORK — (N.E.A.) — Winds of change have swept the fashion establishment right out of its ivory tower. Suddenly all the safe little clichés are in disuse. Elegance is square, playing up your good points is passe and the little basic black has had it. The new word is "camp" and the new chic is "contemporary."

Hope Girls in Ouachita Relays

ARKADELPHIA — Participants from Hope High School are among approximately 250 girls who are expected to compete in the third annual Tigerette Relays for high school girls at Ouachita Baptist University's A. U. Williams Field this Saturday.

To keep step with the mood of the young pace-setters who have kicked up their heels at fussy protocol, today's clothes must be bold, short and, above all, free. And that's why stretch fabrics are more important than ever before in every fashion area.

Today

Clarence A. Ross, board chairman of Stretchnit, finds his art collection at his office a constant source of inspiration along with artists Moses Soyer, Noel Daggett, Geoffrey Holder and William Matherbe, who are his friends.

A man attuned to the contemporary mood from the word go-go, Ross gave up a successful business in cotton knits three years ago to play a hunch about synthetics, stretch and easy-care. Together with several associates he formed the firm which today deals exclusively in stretch. He is very much a man of the moment, constantly searching for innovations in the world of fashion. The switch to stretch was a natural move for him.

Called the "darling of the jet set," stretch sets a new course in space age travel. It packs in a wink, travels light and sheds wrinkles overnight. And when you wear it, you can twist, monkey, frug, flex your muscles, bend or turn with the greatest of ease.

Enthusiasm for stretch fabric as a way of life is also shared by some of the im-

NEW YORK (AP)—The network television pickings, with summer reruns rushing in, are getting so slim that almost any program still presenting new material automatically becomes a highlight of the week.

There still are a few special programs on the schedules during the next seven days, however.

"Mississippi: a Self Portrait," on NBC Sunday night (6:30-7:30 EDT) will take a look at opinions of whites and Negroes in the state in connection with the social and political change in progress there.

CBS will broadcast, also on Sunday evening (10-11) a special memoir of the great days of radio and the early days of television, with some stars who were around then, including Arthur Godfrey and Lucille Ball.

The CBS news program on Tuesday (10-11 p. m.) will be a portrait of Igor Stravinsky, the 83-year-old Russian musician whose compositions spearheaded a revolution in his professional area.

Helen Help US!

by Helen Bottel

Youth Asked For It! This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenaged questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

A Slip On The Wrist
Dear Helen: I don't think you were funny, when "Happily Surprised" wrote about seeing a teenager with a butch haircut and your reply was, "Boy or Girl?"

Sure there are kids that make the rest of teenagers look like a disgrace, but you don't have to condemn us all.

What if you said, "I actually saw a husband's socks being darned the other day," and I answered, "By the husband match?" You'd be pretty mad about me knocking wives, wouldn't you?

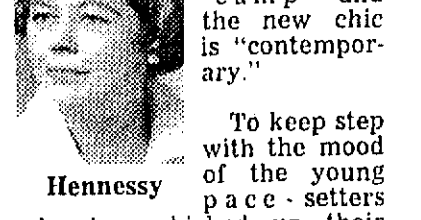

Please give yourself "ten lashes with your typewriter ribbon" and stop with the stupid jokes. This isn't the last you'll hear from me, but now I am leaving for church. — Mad Teenager

Dear Mad: Yes, SIR.

But one lash will do this time. When people stop laughing at themselves, they're too darn serious. — sez this wife who thinks YOUR joke is funny. — H.

Saenger

Sunday-Monday-Tuesday

Donald Pleasence and Brian Keith co-star with Burt Lancaster in "The Hallelujah Trail," opening in Technicolor and Ultra Panavision.

Starts Wednesday - 4 DAYS

"Frankie's" famous "fawty-faw" goes "six times rooty-toot-toot" and sends "Johnny" to glory and immortality in this re-enactment of the famous folk ballad for Edward Small's production "Frankie and Johnny." United Artists release in Technicolor.

Big Decrease
In 1914 there were about 140 foreign-language daily newspapers (one-third were German) in the United States when the great wave of immigration from Europe was still under way. Today there are about 76. Of the 35 languages represented, only four are German.

TIMELY QUOTES

They are dedicated to one purpose, the creation of division, hostility and fear in our society.
—New Jersey's Gov. Hughes, on extremist groups.
People are not in a jolly mood.
—Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., after talking to constituents.

HEAR THESE WORDS

Worship In Church Every Week

Stand Up!

...it makes the "counting of heads" much easier. But when one stands one should be sure he stands for something. No need waiting for tomorrow. It may be too late to register a vote. It is quite easy to persuade one's pooch to stand, to register his want.

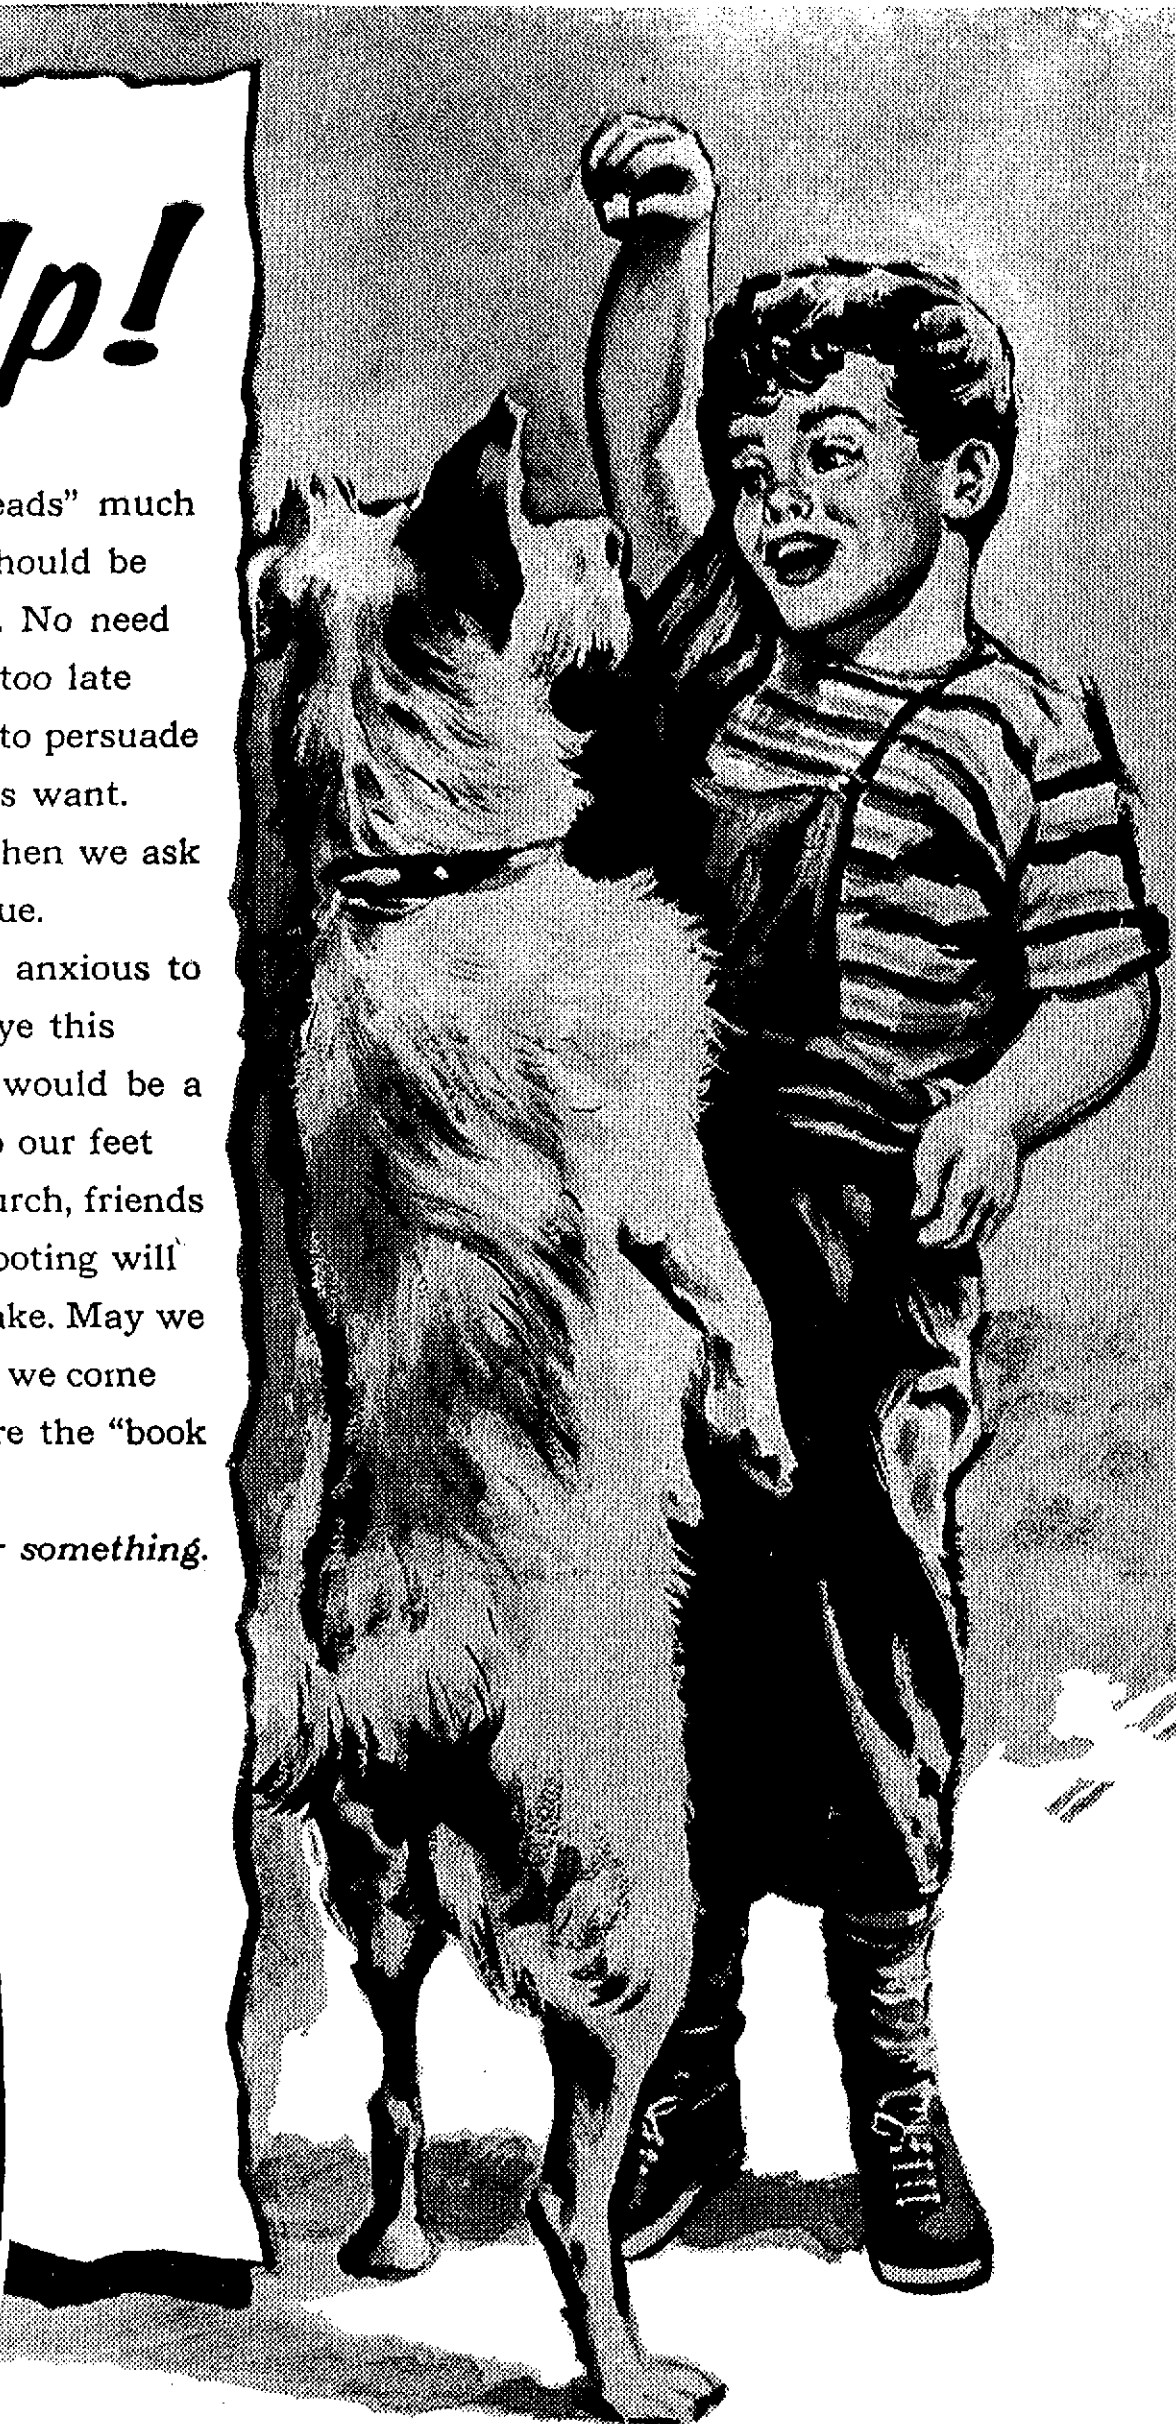

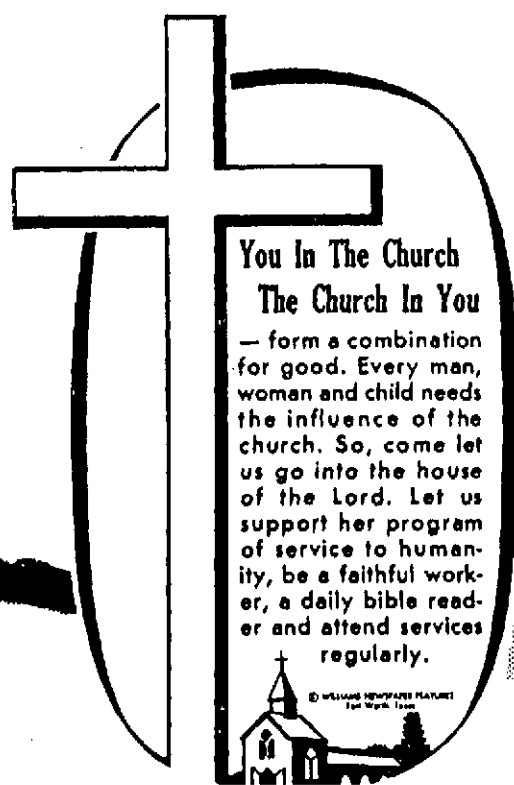

It is quite a different thing when we ask a friend, a neighbor to vote an issue.

Perhaps we should be more anxious to make a choice. God said, "Choose ye this day whom you will serve." It would be a better world if we would bounce to our feet to be counted, when God, the church, friends or family are in jeopardy. Sound footing will help when vital issues are at stake. May we hold fast to right, to God, and when we come to stand up in judgment, before the "book of life" we shall not be afraid.

We shall be standing for something.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Fluoridation Is Beneficial To Expectant Mother, Baby

BY WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Dr. Lawrence: My wife expects a baby in July. I am particularly concerned about her teeth and the baby's teeth. Our doctor recommended a special diet with vitamins but when I asked him about fluoride, he said it wasn't necessary. But some mothers told us their doctors did recommend fluoride. What shall we do?—Charles S. A—The "fluoride situation" is so packed with emotion that I hate to discuss it. Because I suggested its use in a recent column, a long-time friend and patient barely talks to me, even though she still comes to have her teeth filled. But really now, how can any dentist withhold recommendation for universal fluoridation? Tooth decay is a dreadful disease from which none of us are immune and the struggle to keep up with repair of decayed teeth sometimes seems to be a labor in vain. And this is on patients we see. What about the more than 50 per cent of our population that never has teeth filled? They just wait till their teeth rot and then have them pulled out and false teeth made.

Can we afford not to do anything about this situation? Especially since there is overwhelming endorsement and recommendation of fluoridation from all interested government and private health organization, including the United States Public Health Service, American Medical Assn. and American Dental Assn., and most of the scientific community. Are all these people trying to deceive us? Are they perpetrating a fraud? Scientific investigation has determined that fluoride in recommended doses of one part fluoride to one million parts water is a harmless and effective way of reducing susceptibility to decay by as much as 60 per cent. Further, it has been established that fluoridation of water supplies is a safe, economical and convenient mass preventive measure.

QUICK QUIZ

TIZZY

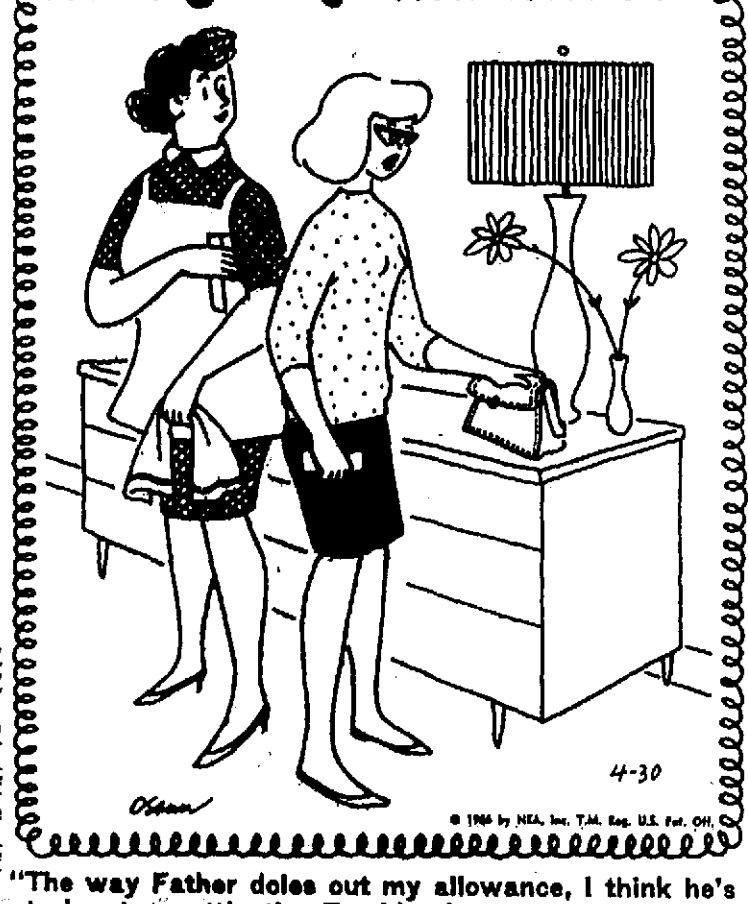

by Kate Osann

Q—Which state has the most Indians?
A—According to the latest census, Arizona, with 83,387. Oklahoma ranks second with an Indian population of 64,689.

Q—Through how many stages does vegetable matter pass before finally becoming coal?
A—Four. Progressive changes carry peat through the successive stages of true coal—lignite, bituminous, anthracite—and on until the mineral graphite is produced.

Q—Was the Alamo originally built as a fortress?
A—No, the historic structure was at first a Catholic mission.

Q—Is Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., located on a Civil War battlefield?
A—The Army Medical Center is on a tract of land about 5 miles northwest of the center of the city, on the site of a skirmish of the Civil War known as the Battle of Fort Stevens.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Foresight Wins In Team Game

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One test of a really great bridge player is the ability to look ahead in the play. Here is a hand that helped the famous Four Aces team win the Vanderbilt Cup some 30-odd years ago.

The game was team of four and both South players reached six spades on identical bidding and the play for the first three tricks was the same. The king of hearts was opened and taken by South's ace. Then South attempted to cash his ace and king of diamonds only to have West ruff the second diamond.

When the late Sherman Stearns of the Aces sat West he played a low club at trick four. South won with dummy's ace, ruffed a club in his hand, ruffed a low diamond, ruffed back to his hand, ruffed his last low diamond with the queen of trumps and eventually lost a trump trick to East's jack to be down one.

At the other table West attempted to cash a heart trick. Mike Gottlieb who sat South ruffed in his hand, ruffed a low diamond with dummy's deuce of spades, cashed dummy's queen of spades and led a third heart. East showed out. Mike spread his hand and announced, "Squeeze for balance."

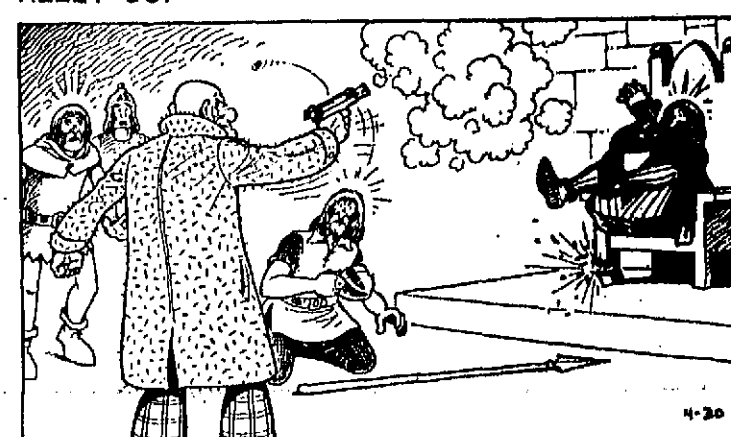

The opponents made him play the hand out but they had no defense. Mike ran off all his trumps. He discarded down to the ten of hearts and ace-jack of clubs in dummy before leading his last trump. This forced West to discard down to one club in order to keep a high heart. Mike discarded the ten of hearts from dummy and poor East had to discard down to one club also in order to keep from establishing Mike's nine of diamonds.

Quite a few players would have recognized the squeeze from the South seat. I wonder how many would have seen it coming from the West seat and ruined it as Sherman did with his club lead at trick four.

WALTER O'MALLEY, LOS ANGELES DODGERS

How to Succeed in Baseball—By Really Trying, Says Walter

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(NEA)—A conversation with Walter O'Malley starts out with the president and owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers asking the questions, rhetorically, and answering them himself.

"Who built his own stadium? Walter O'Malley.
"Who poured $32 million into baseball? Walter O'Malley. It takes a lot of confidence.

Olderman

"Who has his club on the tax rolls? Walter O'Malley. The Dodgers pay $800,000 a year, more than any other team in baseball.

"Who has the most successful organization? Walter O'Malley.

"Who pays his ballplayers more than any other? Walter O'Malley. They called Branch Rickey 'El Cheano'—they can't call me that.

"Who built his own training facility? Walter O'Malley.

"Who built his own golf course for his players? Walter O'Malley.

"Who has served longer on baseball's executive committee than any other man in history? Walter O'Malley."

Of course, that leads to another question which O'Malley prudently skips over. Who is the man who runs baseball? Walter O'Malley.

At least, that's the popular belief. He can't admit it. In this general airing of his views on baseball, this is how O'Malley reacted to it:

"It's a rumor, of course, and not a fact. Actually, if it were, we would not have today certain practices in baseball that I totally disapprove of, such as the draft of first-year players, the free agent draft and general talk of further expansion. It is utterly ridiculous to say I run baseball because too many things have been adopted that are quite contrary to my own views."

Does the rumor stem from the fact you run the most successful franchise?

"I think that would contribute to the... make that myth. Another more significant fact is this. I devote full time to baseball. Therefore, I am available to serve on committees and to work in the vineyards, plow the fields, do all the things that somebody vitally interested in his team will do.

"Now we have other men in baseball — wonderful, fine men — who are called sportsmen. They are wealthy men who have other businesses. In these other businesses they're fabulously successful. Were they to devote as much time to baseball as they do to their prime business, I'm sure they would be very much more successful in baseball. Because there's an old saying, 'Fish smells from the head.'"

How do you feel about the new commissioner, Gen. William D. Eckert?

"He will be accepted as a very great commissioner, a very positive commissioner. I've been very much impressed because he's been quoted on a number of occasions as saying that he regards himself as a commissioner representing the public, the players, as well as the franchises. I think this is good because over the years another myth has developed that a commissioner only represented the owners. Obviously that couldn't be true because then we'd still have Roberto Clemente with the Dodgers and we would have won a lot more pennants than we did."

Clemente was originally signed to a Montreal contract in 1954 and drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates that year when the Dodgers failed to protect him on their roster. He has won three National League batting championships.

I asked O'Malley how involved he is with the everyday operation of the Dodgers.

"Actually, I don't run the ticket department. We have competent people doing that. I don't run Red Patterson's department (public relations). He does a fine job. I don't run Buzzy Bavasi's (general manager) or Fresno Thompson's (minor league operations) or Al Campanis' (scouting). All these men are department heads and know the scope of their activities."

"I sort of sit around as a trouble-shooter. When they want me, they call on me. My principal function is to keep all the loose ends tied together. And I think the success of our organization proved our method is pretty good."

No argument there. But all this efficiency spoiled a little plan Walter had cooked up this spring. He was going to have Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale throw out the first ball on opening day in Dodger Stadium.

Bavasi loused it up by talking them out of their holdouts.

NEW POSITION—Tony Kubek, retired from baseball after a career with the New York Yankees, works in the office of his cheese firm in Wausau, Wis. Kubek will retain his ties with baseball, however. He has signed as a broadcaster with NBC-TV.

At 47, Lowrey Is The Top 'Hitter' In the Majors

By AL CARTWRIGHT
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PHILADELPHIA—(NEA)—The best hitter on the Phillies is 47 years old.

He also is short and paunchy and, to use the complimentary term, balding.

He is a better hitter than Richie Allen and Bill White and Johnny Callison.

He can outhit them, providing the object they are swinging at is a golf ball.

Peanuts Lowrey wins all the ballplayers' golf tournaments, or so it seems. He is the first base coach for the Phillies and the Arnold Palmer of the big leagues.

Better make that the Gary Player of the big leagues. He and Player are a better physical comparison — providing Player would get off that health kick for a year or two.

Lowrey won't discuss his golf game while in uniform, but he'll make a sort of 19th hole out of any hotel lobby.

Lowrey is a little guy from California who smokes long cigars. He lit up one that looked like the shaft of a 2-iron. Lowrey puffed and pondered the question: Is he really the best golfer in baseball? "I don't like to pop off," he replied. "All I can say is, who's gonna beat me? I'll play anybody."

Ken Harrelson, the Kansas City A's first baseman who apparently talks a good game, will pop off for you. There is a tournament for the big leaguers at Indian Wells Country Club in Palm Springs, Calif., just after the World Series. Harrelson came to play last October, and he said he had bought only a one-way plane ticket because he was planning to drive home—in a Mustang that was up for first prize.

After the tournament, Harrelson climbed in a car, all right. But it was a cab, and it took him to the airport. Lowrey got in the Mustang, drove it to his home in Los Angeles and gave it to his daughter as a present. He has won at Palm Springs three times in five tries, and if this keeps up he'll be able to open up Hustling Harry's Car Agency.

Lowrey became interested in golf in the '40s when he played with the Cubs.

"I didn't think much of it at first," he said. "Hit the ball and walk after it. I was used to hitting a baseball and running. First time I played a full round I shot a 95. That winter at home, I was hooked. I got down in the 80s and I've been playing six times a week every winter since then."

Peanuts Lowrey

Now Lowrey throws low 70s at the ballplayers and any unsuspecting natives he can find. In a pro-am at Long Beach, Calif., with Duke Snider as an opponent, he had a 66—two years after he began playing seriously. Two winters ago, he shot a 62.

Lowrey stays with or outdrives even the home run hitters of baseball and kills them on the greens. "I have great confidence. I feel I can get down in two on any green I reach. Some guys stew over 10-foot putts. I love 'em. A 2, I keep the ball in play—rarely lose a penalty shot."

Gene Mauch and his coach are the best twosome on any club in the majors. They were daily partners each off-season, before Mauch moved out of the neighborhood. This spring they beat Gene Sarazen and his knickers and Mary Higgins, a Clearwater pea, 2 and 1.

Lowrey puts Mauch on his all-star team as a putter and he also picks Al Dark for fairway woods. Albie Pearson, off the tee; Harrelson, long irons; and Ralph Terry, short irons.

"The ballplayer who hits the longest drives is Sandy Koufax," Peanuts said. "He doesn't do it consistently, though."

But Peanuts Lowrey owns 'em all on the golf course. If he had been able to slug a baseball like that, he'd own his own country club, too.

Jockeys' Doctor Has Right Formula

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Some people might argue that it would be more practical to have psychiatrists at the race track than physicians.

The Jockeys' Guild, however, doesn't believe that theory.

Twenty-five years ago, the guild asked Dr. Alexander Kaye to act as an adviser on medical matters. Today, Dr. Kaye still is advising—without pay.

And no one in racing is closer to the jockeys than the pleasant 68-year-old surgeon.

"I don't think I attended the races a half-dozen times before I became associated with the Jockeys' Guild," Dr. Kaye said. "But I began coming out to the track... and I liked what I saw. I used to do a lot of free clinic work anyway, so I devoted myself to the racing industry as a hobby and have felt richly rewarded by the experience.

"We deal most closely with the jockeys riding in New York, but I also review the X rays for virtually every serious injury to riders throughout the country. When a case fails to make satisfactory progress, I usually bring the boy to Physicians Hospital (in New York) so I can look in on the treatment personally.

"As a rule these boys are in excellent physical shape. They couldn't ride if they were not in top condition, and a well-conditioned body usually responds to treatment faster than the normal nonathlete."

The most common injuries to jockeys are fractured collarbones.

Dr. Kaye explained why: "The boys derive most of their power and ability to control their mounts from their shoulders and upper arms. We are very careful in any surgery we may perform to take this into account, to try to give them complete use of the important muscles and bones without restriction.

"Riding is a hazardous, demanding profession and surgical procedures that might serve the average man will not always do for jockeys."

Another area for advice is diet.

"Jockeys shouldn't have to worry about their weight," Dr. Kaye said. "If they stick to a high protein diet, take the proper vitamins and don't nibble between meals."

He advises the jockeys to eat only two meals a day.

The first consists of two eggs, two slices of toasted protein bread and a cup of coffee.

Dinner is more hearty. A sample menu includes lobster or shrimp cocktail, steak, roast beef or lamb, a vegetable, salad, protein bread and coffee. Desserts and soups are out.

Dr. Kaye is an unusual man, and the jockeys know it. Good advice doesn't often come free.

GIVE AND TAKE—Henry Cooper, the English heavyweight, takes a left on the chin from his son Henry Jr. On May 21st, Cooper will face a somewhat stronger hitter—Cassius Clay. The heavyweight title fight will be in London. In June, 1963, Cooper knocked Clay down but lost the fight.

How Long Will Banners Wave?

By DAVE BURGIN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Those fun-loving New York Mets fans who decorate Shea Stadium with scrawled-on bedsheets have not changed their theme for the new season.

The messages on the banners contain the same humorous tone as last year—a cross between tongue-in-cheek and a sentimental we-know-you're-lousy-but-we-love-you-anyway.

Before the first ball was pitched in the Mets opener against the Atlanta Braves, one man drew guffaws with a poster that read, "Wait 'til next year!"

Another, borrowing a line from Don Adams of television's Get Smart, waved a banner reading, "The Mets in '66. Would you believe '67?"

When things get dull at Shea, you take a walk and read banners. Some samples of '66 entries:

- "To err is human—to forgive is a Mets fan."
- A take-off on a tooth paste commercial: "Our team had 45 per cent fewer victories last year."
- "Don't waste water, stop sending Mets pitchers to the showers."
- "Mets strike fear in the hearts of other Mets."
- "Don't worry about scalping the Braves, just get ahead."
- "The rest of the league is just lucky."
- "Extremism in defense of the Mets is no vice."
- "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."
- "Deus Vault." And then in parentheses, "God wills it."
- One word banners also are popular:
- "Please!"
- "Resist!"
- "When?"
- "Why?"
- "How?"
- "Pray."

But behind the "Pray" banner came this one: "We prayed now what?"

Fine. It's great to have fun in a ball park. The only thing is, Metsian banner-wavers are in danger.

The Mets have improved. No doubt about it. The acquisition of veterans Ken Boyer and Dick Stuart, plus manager Wes Westrum's "positive-thinking" campaign, has spurred the lovable to dizzy heights.

All of which means the Mets just might climb out of the National League cellar and finish ninth. Or even eighth!

Then Metsian banner-makers would have to change their pitch somehow. Perhaps Westrum could hold a couple of positive-thinking classes for fans.

There is another school of thought: When and if the Mets make it out of the cellar, they will be just another mediocre ball club and all of the banners and many of the fans will disappear.

In this vein, one banner stood out. It read: "Is the Met dynasty crumbling?"

Touchdown

COLUMBUS, O. — (NEA) — Woody Hayes' son, Steve, came home from school with a beaming face.

"Look, dad," he exclaimed, holding out his report card. The Ohio State football coach looked at it and saw three As and two Bs.

"It's fine, Steve," he said. But, ever the perfectionist, he added, "Don't you think it could stand some improvement?"

The boy's head fell and Woody realized he had made a mistake. "I'm sorry, Steve," he said, trying to make amends, "but I was visiting with Bud Wilkinson last week, and he told me that his son, Jay, had made straight As."

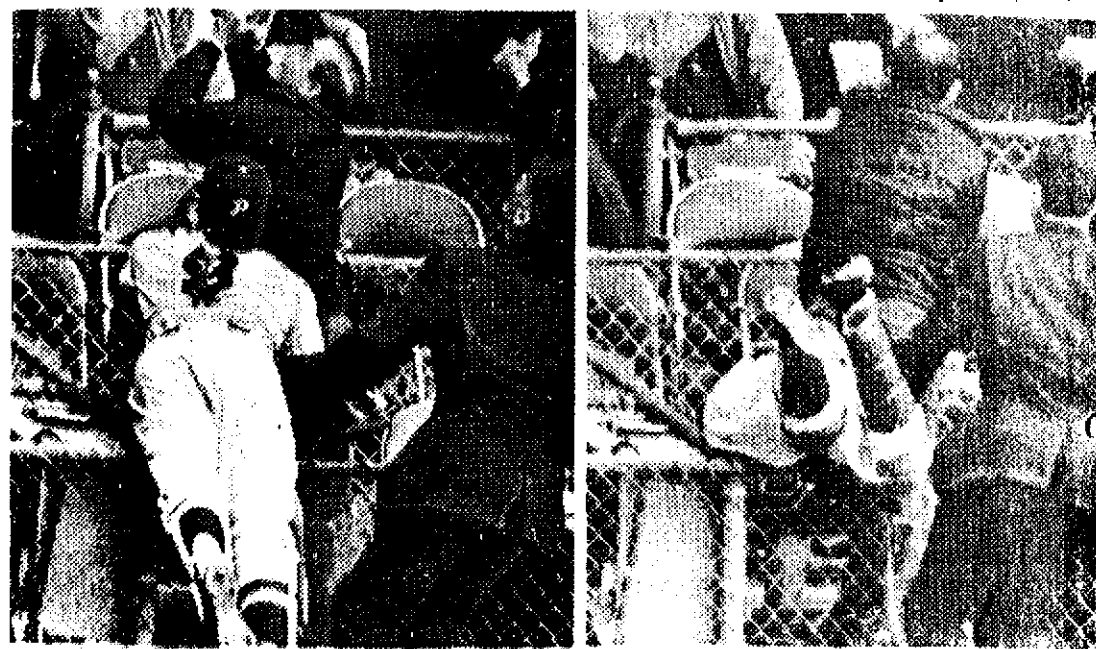

Steve Hayes smiled. "Yes, dad," he said, "but Jay Wilkinson's father won 45 straight games."

No Record

As far as can be determined, George Washington never flew the Stars and Stripes during the Revolutionary War, and no records indicate it was used in any Revolutionary battle.

RIGHT HOOK—It was supposed to be a bloodless bullfight, but no one told the bull, who caught matador Gustavo Castulo with a right hook to the mid section. Castulo was not seriously hurt.

CATCHING-UP—Railbirds at the ball park have to be on the watch for catchers like Andy Etchebarren, top, of the Orioles and Bob Ecker, bottom, of the Phillies. They may wind up sharing a seat in the front row boxes.

From a variety of reliable sources, it seems that the mood of the Congress is changing. Actually, there have been some drastic reversals in the ideas and attitudes of the American people... and the Congress senses this. The result: There will be less reckless spending, fewer Great Society programs, and a long dry spell for any new civil rights laws.

On the subject, the current issue of U. S. News & World Report says: "... Mr. Johnson, it seems, is to have his way less often... 'Poverty War' seems increasingly unpopular in Congress. There's widespread feeling that major portions of this 'war' are little more than a racket... Riots, if they come again this summer on a big scale, are not going to be popular with Congress and may not be with the country. Negro groups, a year ago, were being encouraged by the White House to take to the streets. There's been a change, again reflecting the country's changing mood."

A year ago, President Johnson was suggesting that demonstrations were a part of American tradition. But he never suggested a single major issue that was ever settled by marching with signs in the streets.

Senator Richard Russell of Georgia favors a public opinion poll in South Viet Nam. If he results show that a majority of the people there are anti-American, the Senator suggests he should pull out and leave. That's logical. Why should we fight a war for those who are too busy demonstrating against us to fight their own battles? — Henry Harris in West Point (Miss.) Times-Leader

Story About 2,640-Mile Taxi Trip

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — George Kehrlotis had read newspaper accounts of the mysterious traveler's marathon taxi ride, 2,640 miles across the country from Toledo, Ohio, to San Francisco.

"Imagine my surprise," he said, "When the dab showed up at my house and the lady is a native."

In keeping with her wishes, the woman—paid a flat $1,000 for the long haul which required two drivers and 50 hours driving time—remained incognito at the Kehrlotis' home today.

"She's a wonderful person," as Mrs. Kehrlotis rather non-committal description of her mysterious houseguest.

The two Black and White Cab drivers, who delivered their fare to the home of Kehrlotis, a real estate broker, at 6:55 a.m. today, were a bit more explicit — but not much.

Paul Mertz, 43, and Chet Reau, 39, said their passenger, her 50's, was in failing health and presently involved in a legal battle over the estate of her late husband.

Mertz, a driver in Toledo for 15 years, said the woman telephoned for a taxi at the Holiday Inn in Toledo last Thursday morning.

To the traditional, "Where is the woman responded, 'I'd really much like to go to California.'"

"I about fell out of my seat," Mertz said.

But he sympathized with the explanation that the lady, grieving over the loss of her husband, wanted privacy. She wanted to see "the only relatives who've been nice to me." (She is the widow of Mrs. Kehrlotis' uncle).

and she had the money.

The taxi company decided on a flat rate of $1,200 and she wrote them a check. The company declined to disclose the woman's identity.

Railway Employees Return To Work

TOKYO (AP) — Employees of Japan's private railways returned to work today, after 12 hours of a planned 24-hour strike, when management gave in to union pay demands.

The unions agreed to accept $9.69 monthly pay boosts for its 240,000 employees. The railways originally offered only $5.84.

Legion Meet Officials

Legion officials attending the 12th District Spring Conference, pictured from left to right: Talbot Feild, Jr., Hope, state judge advocate; Al Slimer, Jr., Texarkana, western division vice-commander; Robert Cox, Hope, state assistant color bearer; Roy Hopkins, Texarkana, newly elected 12th district commander; and B. C. Hollis, 12th district committee-man.

The 12th District Spring Conference of The American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary was held at 2:00 p. m., Sunday, April 24, 1966, at the Hope National Guard Armory.

Mrs. Cecil Weaver and Mrs. Claude Agee were in charge of registration for the joint meeting.

Leslie Huddleston Post 12 Adjutant, Talbot Feild, Jr., was master of ceremonies and introduced Cecil Weaver, Chaplain, who opened the meeting with a prayer.

Mrs. E. S. Franklin, Auxiliary Unit 12 President, introduced the guests.

Mrs. Fred Fornby gave the welcoming address and Mrs. J. C. Powell, of Texarkana, gave the response.

Mrs. Joe Jones, Junior Activities Chairman, introduced Miss Susan Rogers who entertained with two songs. "The Wind They Call Moriah" and "Shenandoah."

After the entertainment the Legionnaires and Auxiliary members conducted separate business meetings.

Mrs. Elbert Keener, 12th District Auxiliary President, of Ashdown, presided over the business meeting.

Newly elected Auxiliary officers are: Mrs. Elbert Keener of Ashdown, 12th District President; Mrs. K. C. Isley of Ashdown, Vice-President; Mrs. Alfred Withem, of Ashown, Secretary; and Mrs. Joe Jones, of Hope, was selected as delegate nominee to the National Convention to be held in Washington D. C. in August.

Mrs. Inez Compton, the American Legion, State Department Secretary, was guest speaker. Mrs. Compton spoke on membership and stated that Arkansas was the first in the nation to reach its 6000 membership quota. She said that at this time Arkansas only lacked 23 memberships in reaching the 7000 mark and urged each Unit to make an effort to get 9 membership dues.

Talbot Feild, Jr., presided over the business meeting of The American Legion. Roy Hopkins of Texarkana, was elected as the 12th District Commander. B. C. Hollis, 12th District Committeeman, and Talbot Feild, Jr., Leslie Huddleston Post 12 Adjutant an State Department Judge Advocate, were selected as delegates to the National Convention.

The American Legion Posts and Auxiliary Units in the 12th District that were represented at the Conference were: Ashdown; DeQueen; Hope Post 12 and 427; Horatio; Stamps; Nashville; and Texarkana. The Horatio group won the travel prize.

Peace Crusader Goes To Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin has told Israeli peace crusader Abie Nathan that his appeal for mediation by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Arab-Israeli conflict is under consideration.

After cooling his heels for nearly a week, the Tel Aviv restaurateur began calling at Soviet government offices and finally was directed to the Kremlin.

A Soviet army major told Nathan that his appeal was under consideration by Kosygin's staff.

U.S. Ailment 'War Fever' — Fulbright

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says "a war fever" has begun to grip America and could lead to global conflict.

At the very least, he adds, it is crippling President Johnson's "Great Society" programs.

American military involvement in Viet Nam, Fulbright said in a speech Thursday night, has diverted energies from the Great Society and "generated the beginnings of a war fever in the minds of American people and their leaders."

The war fever "is only just now getting under way," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee told a dinner meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's Bureau of Advertising.

Fulbright said: "But, as the war goes on, as the casualty lists grow longer and affect more and more American homes, the fever will rise and the patience of the American people will give way to mounting demands for an expanded war, for a lightning blow that will get it over with at a stroke."

"The first demand," Fulbright went on, "might be blockade of Haiphong; then, if that doesn't work, a bombing raid on Hanoi; and if that doesn't work, a strike against China; and then we will have a global war."

The senator said it is "a kind of madness" for the Johnson administration to assume that the nation can achieve Great Society programs while financing war in Southeast Asia.

Cong Seizes Officials at Local Level

SAIGON (AP)—Viet Cong terrorists have killed or abducted more than 4,000 Vietnamese government officials in the past two years, authorities said today.

Red agents have been striking mainly at the countryside, decimating local leadership and paralyzing administration.

"Many villages today are virtually depopulated of their natural leaders," one official report said. "Their loss to Viet Nam is inestimable and will take a generation or more to replace."

The total of officials killed or abducted from the start of 1964 is 4,388.

Incomplete estimates of the non-official victims of Viet Cong terror in 1965 are 11,086 persons—killed, wounded or kidnapped.

National Music Week, to Begin Next Week, Traces Back to Coolidge's Day

By MARY ANITA LASETER Star Feature Writer

National Music Week, which always begins on the first Sunday in May and continues through Mother's Day, will be celebrated for the 43rd year on May 1-8 this year under the sponsorship of the National Federation of Music Clubs, a non-profit organization dedicated to music. The 1966 theme is "Let's Make Music a Living Force."

In Arkansas, the State Music Week chairman is Mrs. Talbot Feild, Jr. of Hope.

"Silent Cal" Coolidge, 30th President of the United States, helped inaugurate the first celebration of National Music Week. In spite of his reluctance to commit himself, he became chairman of the honorary committee of governors for the first National Music Week in 1924.

Through the years Presidents have continued to support National Music Week and President Johnson said, "Music adds both a vitality to the moment and a richness to our collective experience."

Besides sponsoring National Music Week, the NFMC, with its 600,000 members and hundreds of clubs, also sponsors and administers an extensive program of annual and summer scholarships. The Friday Music Club of Hope is among those sponsoring scholarships to Inspiration Point at Eureka Springs and tryouts for 1966

Bob Stewart Is Play Director

MAGNOLIA — Bob Stewart of Hope was student director for "Mary, Mary," a contemporary comedy presented April 27 and 28 by the directing class at Southern State College in Overstreet Auditorium, according to Margaret Harton, associate professor of speech, who supervised the direction of the play.

Stewart is a 1962 graduate of Hope High School, and a senior speech major at Southern State. He is a member of the National Education Association and Stagecrafters, and had the leading role in "The Chinese Wall" in the fall of 1964. He is the grandson of Mrs. M. D. Downs of 602 Hervey St.

Solon Favors Intensifying Air Strikes

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Sen. John C. Stennis said it is an "open secret" today that the Joint Chiefs of Staff favor intensifying U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam.

In a speech prepared for the Mississippi Broadcasters Association, the Mississippi Democrat — who head the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, called anew for an all-out assault on oil, power and arms plants in the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial areas of North Viet Nam.

Stennis said the air war "has not achieved and, under current and restrictive ground rules, will not achieve its objective of substantially halting or curtailing the flow of men, materials and supplies from North to South Viet Nam."

"We should close the ports of North Viet Nam by whatever method our military leaders deem to be appropriate," he said. "We should destroy the petroleum facilities in the Hanoi-Haiphong complex. We should also attack power producing facilities and plants producing military equipment and supplies and other tools of war."

"These things are necessary to protect our fighting men, to shorten the war, and to minimize the loss of valuable American lives. The majority of the high ranking military leaders with whom I have talked agree with me on this," he said.

"It is an open secret that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have long recommended a stepped up and intensified air war against North Viet Nam."

Stennis also expressed hope there will be no "privileged sanctuary" if Chinese planes attack American fliers. (The State Department has said that "hot pursuit" of such attacking planes into China would be in order, but only President Johnson could decide if Chinese airfields were to be bombed.)

Riots Feared In Viet Nam On May Day

SAIGON — Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is scheduled to leave Saigon today for a Washington review of Vietnam problems that authorities fear may be complicated by labor-inspired May Day rioting.

The capital's leading labor unions, which have marshaled up to 40,000 demonstrators in Saigon streets at times in the past, called for a giant march on the Socialist labor day Sunday. Some unionists were reported preparing banners demanding an end to the war.

Mayor Van Van Cua charged that the unions were Communist infiltrated and may "stage an attempt to seize power" Cua said, however, "We are ready for any eventuality." Squads of white-clad riot police and a regiment of Vietnamese paratroopers were on the alert.

Nevertheless, there was a calm atmosphere in Lodge's flight arrangements. Though it was not disclosed whether he hoped to see Pope Paul VI, he planned one stop in Rome. He expects to visit several days in Boston, his home area, on the way to Washington, where he is due for consultations May 7th or 8th.

"It will be a general, important review and perhaps some new policy decisions," a spokesman said, "but this is no crisis trip."

Sitting in for Lodge at the United States Embassy will be William Porter, the deputy chief of mission.

Hays Puts Emphasis on Party Line

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Brooks Hays emphasized Democratic party loyalty today as he kicked off his campaign for governor at an informal meeting attended by about 200 in a downtown hotel here.

"I'm a Democrat without prefix or suffix," Hays said. "I'm a Democrat if you drop me into Australia."

Hays, who addressed the crowd for about five minutes, said his loyalty to the party does not mean that he agrees with everything Democrats do at all levels of government.

"But I believe we can work out these differences within the party," he said.

Hays said he favors a strong and efficient, but not a dominating federal government. "Federal authority extends into vacuums left by the state," he said. "I'm for pushing it back and I know where it's coming in because I'm familiar with the federal government."

Hays resigned as an advisor to President Johnson when he entered the governors race.

Hays said that he would answer complaints about his age (he is 67) by saying that he is the same age as two of the finest governors Arkansas ever had — Thomas McRae and J. Marion Futrell.

Hays said that, although he is a Democrat, this does not keep him from loving everybody, including Republicans.

Hays was introduced by Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, who has been asked to manage the campaign. Gordon told newsmen he has not yet decided whether to take the job.

Gordon said Hays was "a Christian gentleman, a man of his word and a good Democrat."

Most of the 200 persons attending the Hays meeting were from Little Rock but there were also supporters from other sections of the state, including Sheriff Marion Thomas of Crittenden County and Sheriff Martin Hawkins of Conway County.

Hays told newsmen after the meeting that he had a telephone report on a poll arranged by his friends and that it showed he was the front-runner in the eight-man Democratic field at this time.

"I don't want to give figures because I don't trust my memory," Hays said. "But it sounded awfully good. The report should be down here next week."

The poll was made by a national polling firm, he said. Hays said he did not know whether the poll covered Frank Holt, a late entry into the Democratic field for governor.

Advisor to JFK Offers Services

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Theodore C. Sorensen, once a close advisor to the late John F. Kennedy, says he "would be happy to serve another President Kennedy at any time."

In a television interview in Oslo Friday night, Sorensen added: "Sen. Robert Kennedy is already a national leader with followers all over the country."

However, President Johnson should be a successful candidate for re-election in 1968, and Robert Kennedy is still a very young man who could be the natural presidential candidate in 1972, 1976 or 1980 — he will still be young.

Union Is Sued By Railroads For Damages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten railroads have sued the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen for damages they allege were caused by the union's four-day strike that started March 31.

The railroads, which filed suit Friday in U.S. District Court, also asked the court to assess contempt of court fines of $50,000 against the union and $5,000 against its president, H. E. Gilbert.

The carriers said they had not yet determined the total amount of damages. They originally estimated the strike cost them $5 million daily and that the striking firemen lost $320,000 a day in wages.

The railroads are the Pennsylvania, Boston and Maine, Grand Trunk Western, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Central of Georgia, Seaboard Air Lines, Spokane International and the Texas and Pacific.

In Chicago Friday, Gilbert refused to comment on the matter until he had seen a copy of the suit.

But he did say employee-employer relations now are at their lowest point since he became affiliated with the union in 1925, adding that "what they are doing won't improve the... relationship much."

The strike of 8,000 firemen on railroads serving 38 states ended shortly before midnight April 3 under heavy pressure from the federal court here and the Johnson administration.

The court pressure included a ruling by Judge Alexander Holtzoff that the strike, if continued beyond a set deadline, would cost the union $25,000 a day. Holtzoff first had entertained, then lifted a threat of fines of $50,000 a day against the union.

An argument remains whether the union owes the fines, since the firemen started returning to work some hours after the deadline.

Call Sturgis in Highway Dept. Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Joint Auditing Committee has invited former highway director Mack Sturgis and others involved in illegal salary increases in the Highway Department to appear before it May 27 here.

The invitations were advanced in letters from Pulaski Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr., committee chairman.

The committee voted last week to audit the Highway Department as a result of news stories about illegal salary increases.

The letters went to all members of the Highway Commission, Walter Hicks, highway director, Comptroller L. A. Mashburn, Budget Director Julian Hogan and two Highway Department employees who were fired after the salary increases came to light — Y. W. Welch and James Meredith.

The committee feels that you can materially aid us in answer questions specifically dealing with these salary increases and perhaps other questions dealing with items in the routine audit report," Cockrill wrote. "Your attendance at this meeting is respectfully requested and confirmation of your attendance as soon as possible will be appreciated."

Death Toll In Texas Rises As Boy 6, Drowns

By The Associated Press A tornado ripped a college northeast of Ft. Worth late Friday and a boy was drowned in Dallas as deadly thunderstorms hurled wind, rain and hail across North Texas.

The drowning victim was Mike Burkes, 6, who was trapped in a submerged car in Turtle Creek raising to 12 the number of deaths blamed on two days of violent storms in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Three men who saw the car plunge into the creek wen in after it and pulled out Mrs. Claudia Burkes and two other children, Kathy, 8 and Terry Jean Z.

As Mrs. Burkes was pulled from the water she cried:

"My God, I don't want to leave my baby! My boy is in the car! Please somebody, get him out! Please!"

The storm hit Fort Worth Christian College in northeast Tarrant County. President Curtis Ramey said at least three buildings were damaged. One injury was reported.

Dallas police said winds at one time reached 70 miles an hour. Gusts blew in plate glass windows, knocked over signs and toppled trees across some major streets. Some electrical wires fell and stayed live and dangerous.

Ramey said there were only a few teachers and maintenance workers still at Fort Worth Christian College when the twister hit.

Rivers in eastern Texas were already at flood stage from up to 28 inches of rain earlier this week.

A flood warning was issued for Gainesville, 60 miles north of Dallas, with low areas due to be covered, the Weather Bureau said.

Morse and Johnson Like In-Fighting

By JAMES MARLOW Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — If the criticism stimulates, Sen. Wayne Morse must keep the President bubbling. The Oregon Democrats can't stand Lyndon B. Johnson's Viet Nam policy. Johnson seems to be doing Morse good, too.

The senator tells about a recent conversation with the President: Johnson: "Wayne, I've never seen you look so healthy. What is your secret?"

Morse: "Mr. President, you're the secret. Your foreign policy so agitates my adrenal glands that they wash out my blood stream two or three times a day. There's nothing better than that for your health."

Morse has said tougher things to and about Johnson but they get along. And politician Johnson never lets the criticism get in the way of his using Morse when he thinks Morse can help him.

Morse was rough on President John F. Kennedy, too, probably never rougher than in the 1960 presidential primaries when he called Kennedy a "phraseological liberal who doesn't vote the way of his party and suggested his voting record was so nonliberal he should have been in the opposition party."

Kennedy, like Johnson, rolled with the punches, and was even good-natured about them. In his book about Kennedy's presidency, "A thousand Days" Arthur Schlesinger Jr., describes Kennedy's reaction in the primary days:

"Half the time Wayne claps me on the shoulder and congratulates me; the other half he denounces me as a traitor to liberalism and an enemy of the working class."

Knowing Morse's long experience in labor disputes, Kennedy in 1963 named him chairman of a board which settled a month-long longshoremen's strike.

Relations between Morse and President Dwight D. Eisenhower were practically nonexistent. Morse not only turned against the general in the 1952 campaign but dropped out of the Republican party, later became a Democrat, severely criticized Eisenhower, and even suggested he quit the presidency for lack of energy to carry on the job.
